

Summary

Site is a hilly area with rocks here and there, covered generally with low, scruffy vegetation. Structure of interest is on the slope or brow of a hill overlooking a small valley with a narrow, winding road in the bottom. There is a small, dashing stream nearby, and further away in an undetermined direction a masonry wall that holds water back. Cisterns are important to the area. The valley over which the structure looks runs roughly NE/SW, and is some distance east of something bigger and more "major." Area is settled, farming type area, with animals "like" goats, something "like" grape vineyards, and trees growing on man-made flat places on hillsides--terraces; trees are short, "like" fruit trees, but don't grow fruit like apples or anything; they are "curled" or "twisted" in some interesting way. Structures, of which structure of interest is typical, are squarish, relatively small, low, ocher or cream color, "like" adobe, with only a few rooms. They are scattered here and there about the terrain, occasionally in small clusters, like Siedlungen in Germany. An ancient feel about the area, like people have lived here for a long time. Presently there is a sense of danger, of division, and of watching. There is also a person involved, who is frightened, angry, and feeling cooped up and claustrophobic. It is dark, hot and stuffy where he is, very limited room; he is shut up, and being watched over, restricted, controlled. There is an atmosphere of tension and anxiety. He is alert, calculating, observing, and scheming, "as if" he is determined to determine how to take full advantage of any opportunities presented by the situation. The area is east, away from a very large body of water, "like" the sea. A sense of security here, a sense of being surrounded by large areas of friendly land. One impression is that the person is 15-20 Km approximately ENE of point where he originated.